“ Thank you Angie,
Thank you for the unconditional love that you've showed me. Thank you for all the trips and adventures growing up. Thanks to you I'm able to beat another stereotype... I can swim 😅...opening up ur home when we would have thanksgiving or Christmas that was a week where everyone would be at ur house. The adults would get up and go to work while the kids (us cousins) got to hangout on break as we didn't see each other that often... sliding down the steps at ur house on the fold out mattress... we even had the adults doing it. Those were the days... as the years went on the vacations stopped but never did it the love u had for us. thank u for opening up ur home to me when I needed it most..Give granddaddy and uncle Clifford a kiss 😘 for me, play a hand 🖐️ of 5000 wit mamma Agnes and have a Lil talk with uncle jack... thank u for everything 🙏
